ALLIANCE FOR RESPONSIBLE DENIM

INTERNSHIP

Sustainability and Denim Production & Buying

posted 01 Dec. 2017

About the ARD:

The Alliance for Responsible Denim mobilizes and facilitates denim brands in collectively taking initial steps towards improving the ecological sustainability impact of denim production, particularly by establishing measurements, benchmarks and standards for resource use (e.g. chemicals, water, energy) and creating best practices for effective collaboration. ARD's consortium consists of key stakeholders and experts within the Amsterdam denim industry. Denim brands, together with industry experts form 'the Alliance for Responsible Denim'. Key project deliverables include the creation and adoption of standards and benchmarks for sustainable denim production and a handbook of best practices for effective collaboration with competitors.

About the internship:

As a member of the Denim Alliance, Chasin' offers a dynamic role within their production team in taking active steps towards reaching their sustainability goals. During your internship you will be responsible for: (1) helping Chasin', in collaboration with Made-By, to complete industry certifications, (2) find a working system to archive certifications, and (3) create a workable system to retrieve and utilize certificates. In addition, you will be responsible for improving the production of one of the denims in the collection and liaising your progress through monthly check-ins with the Denim Alliance.

What we're looking for

- someone who is passionate about sustainability & product development
- excellent communication (written and verbal) skills, both in Dutch and English
- a comfortable multitasker that is goal oriented and driven
- ability to prioritise, plan and coordinate a variety of tasks and activities among different stakeholders
- maintain accurate records of data

What we offer

The Alliance for Responsible Denim is an exciting project that aims to make the denim industry cleaner and smarter. Working in Chasin's buying and production department you will play an integral role in the sustainable development of key Chasin' product styles. This 20 week internship starting in February 2018 is paid. Salary specifications and a starting date will be discussed upon interest in the position.
