

vBoxx The Hague

We are looking for an enthusiastic and communicative German native speaker to join our team in The Hague. Geplaatst 26 februari

About vBoxx:

vBoxx is a young IT company based in The Hague that specializes in the ever expanding and competitive Cloud market. We offer servers, cloud services and hosting capacity for companies all around the world. We value the personal care we offer our customers and proudly use our problem solving capabilities to help them achieve their goals.

What are we looking for:

We are looking for an enthusiastic and communicative German native speaker to join our team in The Hague. You will be directly involved in the expansion of our vBoxxCloud service in the German market. You will be helping us with all German interactions and accompany us during meetings in Germany.

What will you do:

- Assist with incoming and outgoing communication with our German partners.
- Translate emails, texts and sections of the website when needed.
- Participate in meetings based in Germany to assist with translation.
- Follow our German partner's presence on social media.
- Assist the marketing team in translating German promotional materials.
- Event support in Germany when necessary.
- Interact with partner and possible customers.

What is your profile:

- You are a German native speaker.
- You have a working level of English.
- You are proactive and adapt easily to different environments.
- You are social and interact easily with others.
- You are passionate about technology.

What can we offer:

- Opportunity to participate directly in the company's expansion.
- Experience in the competitive Cloud market.
- A young and lively work environment.
- An internship of 4-6 months (negotiable).
- 3 to 5 days a week (negotiable).
- Internship Allowance.

If you would like to join our team, send your CV to Fábio Kanagaratnam: stage@vboxx.nl