

English – Dutch freelance translators

The digital world and human communications are evolving. Multiple technologies and possibilities are at play. What is relevant for one customer in one region may be completely irrelevant to another in a different part of the world. So how do companies embrace that challenge?

For almost 30 years, SDL has been on the forefront of translation technology and services. We have more than 1,500 enterprise customers, 400 partners and a global infrastructure of 55 offices in 38 countries.

Our main subject areas include IT/consumer electronics, software localization, travel/retail, manufacturing/automotive, finance, and medical/life sciences, and we are a global leader in translation technology.

We are currently in the process of selecting English into Dutch freelance translators with experience in one of the above mentioned subject areas.

Requirements:

- Native Dutch speaker level;
- Proficiency in English, additional proficiency in French or German is a plus;
- University degree or professional qualification in translation and/or English;
- Willing to do a short test translation as part of our selection process;
- Willing and able to work with SDL Trados Studio.

If you are interested in this offer please apply on:

<http://www.sdl.com/about/career/freelancers/translators.html>

For more info about SDL please refer to www.sdl.com