Consent form for the publication of a thesis

The Leiden Repository is an online archive that makes the Bachelor theses of Leiden University programmes easily searchable and publicly available (if desired). For more information, see this page of the repository. At Leiden University, Bachelor theses are not made publicly available unless the supervisor and the student agree (in exceptional circumstances) to make the thesis publicly available.

The OSC uses this Consent Form to check if the information you have filled out for your repository upload is correct, so the upload can be processed. Please note that it may take up to a few months before your thesis is entered into the repository.
