

Internship First Law International

Law is no longer an office full of busy-bodies charging customers by the hour. Technology has had a significant disruptive effect already and will continue to do so. The person FLI is looking for is someone with a self-starter mindset; who once she/he understands the end goal, will initiate steps and implement procedures on her/his own without much supervision.

About First Law International

FLI is the central management hub for a global network of leading law firms (approx. 17,000 attorneys worldwide operating in 85 countries). As a valuable external partner to the inhouse legal team, FLI's project managers render important assistant activities for clients such as DHL, Caterpillar, Stryker, Ingram Micro, and other Fortune Companies. The start-up in The Netherlands is a great opportunity for a student wanting access to the corporate world before they venture in the job market. FLI will afford the selected interns with amazing opportunities to interact with law firms around the world and learn first hand what the trends are in the legal industry, which is currently being disrupted by the advent of new technologies.

The internship

Interns who start in April will be invited to participate at FLI's annual Conference. FLI is hosting its biggest annual event in Vienna (May 22-24); those who are selected now and can start in April will have their travel and lodging expenses covered during the event – there will be 50 countries congregating for this event); this would be a fantastic opportunity for future career advancement;

Depending on the intern's various interests the opportunity offered by FLI may be more business oriented or legal oriented as well as the possibility to use social media skills.

Furthermore

- Ideally the student should be a graduate student or in his/her last year of studies; however, if a younger student shows potential, we'd be willing to consider.
- Period of minimum 3 months, starting date immediately
