The Social Entrepreneurship & Global Innovation Bootcamp is a brand new short-term program developed by Universidad Iberoamericana for global innovators and entrepreneurs.

Participants will come to Mexico City for an intensive four-week program to learn how to build innovation-driven enterprises, and to address current global challenges with a social perspective. Throughout the program, participants will learn and practice the latest innovation frameworks used by startups around the world. The bootcamp deepens in strategies, business methodologies and tools to create products and services for social change with innovative characteristics.

At the end, participants will be armed with a comprehensive toolkit for entrepreneurship and leadership, and will develop lifelong bonds with innovators from around the world.

ABOUT 'IBERO'

Universidad Iberoamericana is considered one of Mexico's most prestigious universities, distinguished by its high academic standards and strong social commitment. The Mexico City campus is located within the Santa Fe business district (western part of town).
